AUTO CRASH VICTIM DIES, FIVE OTHERS IN FAMILY INJURED

HEAT WAVE AND FREAK STORMS VISIT AREA

TREES UPROOTED BY WIND ON ROAD TO EL CAJON; WIRES DOWNED

Electrical storms and a record-breaking heat wave have marked the past week. Not for forty years has there been so long a September hot spell, accompanied by thunder and lightning, in this section, oldtimers say.

The most spectacular feature of this "unusual" weather was the freak electrical storm of Tuesday night. In some areas, although not in the town of Lakeside, there were also strong winds. One section along the road from here to El Cajon near Santee felt the force of such a wind. Trees were uprooted and in their fall they brought down telephone and telegraph wires.

COTTAGE FLATTENED; TREES BLOCK ROAD

The wind which accompanied the thunderstorm and caused the damage on the Lakeside-El Cajon road is described as a "twister" in miniature. The force of it was felt particularly at and near the Richard Dicey home. A cottage near the home was flattened to the ground and another small house was blown over on its side.

LIGHTNING STRIKES IN SAN DIEGO

Widespread damage was caused in San Diego by the freak storm. Two street cars and car barns were struck by lightning, wires were blown down and several small fires started. No one was injured, however.

Church Rally Dinner To Be Held Oct. 6

Community Church Rally dinner will be held Friday, Oct. 6 at 6:30 p.m. Everybody is asked to keep that date free and be sure to attend. It will be a pot luck dinner.

Pastor T. I. Nalbach reports that at the dinner the plans made by department leaders will be made known and a dedication service of workers will be held.

Plans are in the making for a wonderful fall and winter program, he says. If everybody helps they can be carried to success.

Irrigation District Project Returned

Lakeside Irrigation District is to lose because Congress failed to provide funds for extension of PWA work. Projects calling for the expenditure of more than $5,000,000 in San Diego city and county have been returned to the sponsors, telegrams from Washington announce. One project is Lakeside Irrigation District, $12,727; another is the San Vicente dam, $1,785,000.

CHURCH ROOF FUND

The roofing fund of the Community Church needs your help. So far it totals $51, contributed by 29 persons. See Mr. Langworthy at the bank or Mrs. Kalstrom or Mr. Desmond, and make a contribution.

HELM RESIGNS AS DISTRICT TREASURER

Thomas F. Helm, who for many years has so faithfully served the Lakeside Irrigation District as Treasurer, has resigned that office. The resignation has been accepted with extreme regret. Everyone who has had financial business with the district speaks most highly of Mr. Helm. B. J. Conrad has been chosen as his successor and from him people may expect the same devotion to the affairs of the district.

SENATOR TAFT DUE IN L. A. TODAY

Kay-Hart, N. Y.

The Lakeside Farmer is informed that Senator Robert A. Taft will visit Los Angeles today, Friday, Sept. 22, before he breaks his western tour to return to Washington for the special session of Congress. Accompanied by Mrs. Taft and by David S. Ingalls of Cleveland, the Ohio Senator will visit the home of Mrs. Lloyd W. Bowers, Mrs. Taft's mother at Hollywood.

The candidate for Republican nomination for President has declared in recent speeches that the United States can keep out of the European war if determined to do so. In the special session, called for revision of the Neutrality Act, he will favor repeal of the present embargo against arms shipments to belligerent nations and advocate a strict cash-and-carry export policy, so that U. S. money and ships will not be involved.

RADIO BRINGS HITLER TALK TO LAKESIDE

HISTORIC SPEECH AT DANZIG LISTENED TO BY MANY RESIDENTS

German Fuehrer Hitler's historic speech at Danzig on Tuesday was brought to Lakeside by radio and many listened in offices, stores and homes.

The world, in fact, had its ears glued to the radio while the speech was in progress.

Hitler's voice is naturally harsh but it sounded softer than usual as he began by saying that this hour was momentous not only to Danzig but to all Germany. His tones rose higher, however, when he declared himself the Liberator. SAYS GERMANY CAN FIGHT SEVEN YEARS

Hitler asserted that Germany has no war intentions against England or France but noted that England has prepared for a three year's conflict. He accepted the challenge and said Germany could fight for six or seven years.

"We will give bomb against bomb, not only one but 500 bombs against every one," he declared.

And raising his voice he cried, while the Danzigers cheered: "We will carry this battle to the end and may God show our adversaries that our weapons are strong."

EXPERT TO TEST OF QUICKIE DINNERS AND NEW THRIFT COOKER

Miss Alice Robertson

Widely known throughout the United States for her cooking schools, demonstrations, and broadcasts, Miss Alice Robertson, Hotpoint Home Economist, will appear at the "1940 Range Exposition and Cooking School" to be held next week in the El Cajon Library, September 28 at 7:30 p.m. and September 29 at 2 p.m. under the auspices of the San Diego Consolidated Gas & Electric Company.

Lakeside women are cordially invited to attend. One of the west's foremost authority on electric cookery and related homemaking arts, Miss Robertson will conduct a program which will include oven meals, "quickie" dinners, improvements and recipes for surface cooking and the use of the new "thrifty" cooker. CAT TAKES KITTENS TO BOY'S PLAY HUT

This is a case not of "wherever Mary went the lamb was sure to go," but of where the Costellos go, there goes the cat. Milton Costello, a 7B pupil in the Lakeside Grammar School, reports that during vacation he made a hut in the woods. The cat, Susy Q. took her kittens there and played with them. When they go for a walk they hear something behind them—and it's Susy Q. Milton doesn't know why she does it, "unless she thinks she's going to get something to eat," he states in the Static, the school paper.

Lakeside adults who wish to continue their education free have plenty of opportunity under the program of Grossmont Union Evening High School. The schedule for the fall term Sept. 18, 1939 to Jan. 19, 1940 proves that. It offers a wide range of subjects interesting to adults.

Staff of Static, Newsy Weekly of School, Selected; Yatch Trip Film Shown Pupils

Selection of the staff of the Static, Lakeside Union Elementary School's newsy mimographed weekly, finds Andy Nollet editor-in-chief with Rosemary Martin as assistant editor. Art and literary editors and reporters complete the staff. The Static is a seventh grade project under the supervision of Miss Violet L. Seaman. It is an interesting publication.

On Monday afternoon the whole school enjoyed a still film presented by Dr. and Mrs. Hepner. The pictures were taken on a yacht trip off the coast of Lower California and through the Panama Canal. A lecture on the trip added to the enjoyment and instruction.

The fourth grade, under the direction of Mrs. Ruby A. Nelson, is studying Indian life. The pupils are interested in present in making drums and rattles.

Pleased visitors at the school this week were two English women, Miss Sally Potter and Miss Elizabeth S. Benson of Birkenhead. They were taken to the classes by Captain J. Grundy, whose guests they have been. They were much impressed with the teaching methods and with the equipment. They remarked that visitors are not allowed in English schools except on special occasions.

The evening dramatic class for adults opened on Tuesday night at the grammar school and a second class was held last night. Details of this and the lip-reading class will be found under the heading "Adult Education Classes Offered Here by Grossmont Union High School."

HAM-EGG MEETING THIS EVENING

A Ham and Egg meeting will be held this Friday at 7 p.m. in the Woman's Clubhouse. Musical entertainment will precede the speaking.

CHICKEN CHORE CASH GETS BOY BICYCLE

Quite a record in gaining vacation money was made by Bobby Condon who is in 4B class at Lakeside Grammar School. He tells the Static, the school paper, that during the summer he did "chicken chores" and earned $15. He bought a bicycle with the money.

CAR DIVES OFF BRIDGE IN 40-FOOT FALL

DRIVER, UNFAMILIAR WITH ROAD, LOSES CONTROL OF MACHINE

Six persons, comprising an entire family from Lance Creek Wyoming, were injured Saturday night when the auto in which they were driving crashed over the San Vicente bridge and fell 40 feet into the creek.

Mrs. Elsie Harris, grandmother, age 57, died in a San Diego Hospital Wednesday and Keith Harris, age 9, was so severely injured that his condition causes much anxiety.

The others hurt are Harold Harris, driver, 33, suffered severe chest and skull injuries; his wife, Marion, 32, cuts and bruises; Bobby Harris, 10, cuts bruises, internal injuries; Herbert, age 4, head injuries. BUCKLE SEES LIGHTS IN THE RIVER BED

Dewey Buckle, who lives above the bridge, said he heard a screech of brakes and noticed the lights of the car down in the creek following the crash. He and Mrs. Buckle and daughter Florence went to investigate. Mrs. Buckle remained on the bridge where she obtained the aid of Leonard Philbrook, who went for Deputy Sheriff Sharpe, and of Roy Clymer, who went for Dr. Morton N. Carlile. Sharpe telephoned for State Highway Patrolmen Gene Harvey and George Dowdy and for ambulances, two of which were rushed from San Diego. Meanwhile Dr. Carlile gave first aid to the injured.

Buckle and Florence, with Joe Hatcher and Roy Clymer, went to the car to remove the injured. They found that the auto was on its wheels but the entire side was caved in.

When Buckle first looked inside the auto all he could see was the grandmother. She was lying on the floor in the back of the car. Further investigation showed that underneath her were two children, both of whom turned out to be badly hurt.

State highway patrolmen quoted Harris as saying he was unfamiliar with the road and lost control of the car as it swerved on the bridge.

John Wesley Barker Is Taken by Death

All business houses in Lakeside closed for an hour and a half on Wednesday afternoon from 2:00 to 3:30 as a tribute to the memory of John Wesley Barker, age 74, father of Otis Barker, proprietor of the Allied Food Store here. Mr. John W. Barker died on Sept. 18. Funeral services were held at 2:30 at the Erickson-Anderson mortuary, La Mesa, with the Rev. Thomas I. Nalbach, pastor of Lakeside Community Church officiating. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sarah Barker; two sons, James Leroy of San Diego and Otis Barker of Lakeside, and a daughter Mrs. Leroy White of Chase, Kansas.

John Wesley Barker was born Sept. 22, 1864 in Danville, Ind. His mother died when he was eight years old. He and his father homesteaded a farm at Phillipsburg, Kansas, when he was sixteen years of age. They lived together for sixteen years until his father died.

He married Sarah A. Cox on Sept. 23, 1896. They came to Orange, California in 1915 and moved from there to Cave Springs, Ark., in 1923. Mr. Barker had made his home in Lakeside since June 1937. (Continued on Page 4)

WILL NEVER SEE HOME AGAIN

Take 'old o' the Wings o' the Mornin'
An' flop round the earth till you're dead;
But you won't get away from the tune that they play
To the bloomin' old Rag over'ead.
(Poor beggars! it's 'ot over'ead!)

Then 'ere's to the sons of the Widow
Wherever, 'owever they roam,
'Ere's all they desire, an' if they require
A speedy return to their 'ome.
(Poor beggars! they'll never see 'ome!)

—Rudyard Kipling

Tommy Atkins, successor of "the old Con-temptibles," goes to his death with a song on lips. Dispatches from Paris tell us that the British contingents marched through French villages singing "Tipperary" and "Here We Are Again." Their fathers marched through France to Mons in 1914 singing that same "Tipperary" and then as now the Frenchmen cheered and cried "Voilà les Tommies."

And now, as then, many Tommies have been killed by Germans and they lie "between the crosses, row on row." So again, there is "some corner of a foreign field that is for ever England." There they lie, in that rich earth concealed. "Poor beggars! they'll never see 'ome."

TO REBUILD GERMAN GLORY

Many people doubt whether France and England can beat Germany alone, much less a Germany supported by Russia and having the benevolent neutrality of Italy.

And many also think that England is wasting gasoline dropping leaflets against Hitlerism over Germany.

Ever since Germany lost the world war the thoughts of her millions have been directed toward revenge. They feel that under Hitler the time has come. The rulers of Germany have been preparing for it ever since Hitler seized power. In a short story written eight years ago by Sinclair Lewis and published in the Saturday Evening Post, one of the characters, "a Silesian Junker and passionate mechanical engineer," is spoken of as thinking of all engineers as "real lords, shaping a new Germany."

"He believed that the struggle to rebuild German glory would be a crusade, holy and united."

And there you have the feeling of most Germans—it is a crusade to give Germany chief place in the European sun.

FOOD PRICES AND PROFITS

Creditable to the Safeway is the statement of policy published under the heading "Food Prices and Profits." All grocery stores and meat markets in Southern California have had to face a difficult situation since the war started in Europe. As the Safeway put it, "the forces of market disturbance, fear and speculation, are at work." This has led to "unwarranted profiteering and unnecessary hoarding" in some places. Food stores which want to treat their customers fairly, like those in Lakeside, cannot control the situation. Any increases in retail prices here are caused by rises in wholesale cost in regard to which, as they point out, they have no say.

Both speculation in food by anybody and "hysterical buying" and hoarding by housewives must be discouraged. In the words of Mayor La Guardia of New York, profiteering is unwarranted and hoarding is unnecessary.

It is satisfactory to learn that Safeway "pledges complete cooperation with governmental agencies and with farmer producers in all efforts to stabilize prices, discourage profiteering, and maintain orderly facilities for food distribution."

Nothing is so strong as gentleness; nothing so gentle as real strength. So said Francis de Sales, but he's outmoded now.

COMMON THINGS

Joy is found in common things
That each passing season brings:—
Winds that tip-toe through the grain;
Slanting lines that brush the sky,
Fireflies flitting softly by;
Hollyhocks beside a wall,
And the meadow-lark's first call;
Summer's green-gold loveliness,
Maple trees in autumn dress;
Winter's cozy firelight glow,
Moonlight on new-fallen snow,
There is wealth in common things,
More than worldly wealth of kings.
—L. A., in Grit.

TEMPLE OF YOUTH

Lakeside Union Elementary School may well be called a Temple of Youth. The children gladly returned to it after the vacation and are thoroughly enjoying the educational and play facilities given by the taxpayers.

Take a look back a few years and see how greatly improved are the conditions under which the young people receive their education. Ageing people, whose children were going to school at the time the world war broke out in 1914, thought the educational and playground opportunities then were fine. They are far superior now.

Moreover the children have better, because more understanding, teachers today. The classes at Lakeside Union Elementary today, from those conducted by School Superintendent Carender down to the newly installed kindergarten department, seem almost the acme of perfection. But education here does not stand still, so they will be even more improved as time goes on. Some may say, "but that seems impossible." Impossible is a word that is not found in the dictionary of a modern American educationalist.

CHIPS BECOME PAPER

There are some chips to which you can't say goodbye; they are the chips from which paper is made.

This issue of the Lakeside Farmer is printed on paper which derives from a grand old spruce tree.

Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lived with rain.

Paper has a long and absorbing history. Man experimented for centuries with all kinds of materials; today 90 per cent of paper is made from wood pulp, more than half of which comes from spruce trees.

The logs are often soaked for months in millponds. Then the bark is removed and the logs are reduced to chips. These chips are cooked until everything is dissolved but the pure cellulose. This is thoroughly washed, then bleached. The water is removed, leaving thick sheets of pulp. Fibre is added and the mixture is run through a machine. The chips have become paper and until the paper disintegrates those chips won't say goodbye.

Did you know that paper was manufactured in the United States almost as soon as it was in England? Paper was in use in England during the eleventh century but was not manufactured there until 1685; it was imported from the Continent. The first paper mill in the United States was built near Philadelphia in 1690. Today more paper is manufactured in the United States than in any other country.

Of course we all feel highly emotional when we read Sergeant Joyce Kilmer's poem "Trees." But the feeling of sorrow it arouses is more for the loss of the gifted man (born December 6, 1886; killed in action near Ourey, July 30, 1918) than for

A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray.

The tree, lovely as it may be, is doing a more distinct service to mankind in the form of a Bible than as a spruce in a Canadian forest. Kilmer had a beautiful thought when he said: A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair.

But the paper from which it is made is more useful even if only to print on it the weekly issue of The Lakeside Farmer.

At the recent State Fair held at Sacramento Mildred Steckman, theater usherette, won first prize as prettiest red-head. When they gave her the award she said: "Believe it or not, I am just as proud of the fact that I can milk any cow at this fair."

One advantage of America being neutral is the fact that we don't have to speak of frankfurters as "liberty sausages," as was the case during the world war.

We are indebted to Christianity for gentleness, especially toward women.—G. Simmons.

Gentleness succeeds better than violence remarked La Fontaine. But can Herr Hitler be persuaded of that?

MODERN WOMEN
By DR. M. L. MAFFETT
President of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Immediate work for her department, as outlined by Dr. Martha Maffett, assistant chief of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, is to make special medical aid available to women in rural communities, in order to reduce the maternal death rate. In the best hospitals the rate is 10 per 10,000, but in the country as a whole, the rate is 57 per 10,000.

Dr. Eliot has for several years investigated conditions surrounding maternity and infancy in all parts of the country. She believes that women's clubs can help considerably in improving conditions in their own locality by finding out what services are available and what are needed. Dr. Eliot is a graduate of Radcliffe College and John Hopkins Medical School and has been with the bureau since 1924.

Friends nominated Mrs. Wilbur Clark to the office of Police Chief of Warren, New Hampshire, just for fun but she won the election and is the only woman to hold such a position in New England.

She likes women guests in her hotels, now numbering seven, located in cities from Boston to St. Louis. She sees that rooms for women have all the gadgets a woman traveler may need, and at the same time she looks out for the comfort of the men. She thinks women are patient when things go wrong in a hotel.

POOR MAN'S ORCHID

When one considers the beauty and variety of the various iris flowers it is easy to understand how they won the name "poor man's orchid." It has been said by every garden authority, and still bears repeating, that there is no group of flowers with which it is so easy to succeed as those which grow from bulbs. Although there are two distinct kinds of iris, those which grow from fleshy roots also known as rhizomes, fibrous roots, and those from true bulbs, they fall under the class of bulbous plants.

The commoner sorts are the tall-bearded. These are the wonderful flowers which brighten our gardens in the early spring, but it is possible to have iris for several months, by planting different sorts. Even varieties of the tall-bearded will produce flowers at different times. The iris is so accommodating that there is an iris for every situation in the garden.

RESET NOW

The iris can be divided and replanted anytime after flowering, but because they must be watered occasionally during the summer if they are divided in early summer, we often leave the job until fall. Now is an ideal time for this work. Try grouping them in the flower border, so that their quarters will not be devoid of color after their flowering time. Their grassy foliage will add charm to the annual bedding plants.

Although well established groups of iris bloom best, they tend to grow over each other if left too long, so that it becomes necessary to separate them. (If you seem to have too many roots this year, save some for the plant exchange.)

COMPANION PLANTS

Flowers which will come along at the same time the iris bloom will of course greatly increase the garden interest, and make for more beauty during the spring and early summer.

husband when he died. First she worked as secretary for the editor of a humorous magazine, then became what she called the "trouble shooter" for the hotel man whom she later married.

and so give us a more colorful scene. Blooming along with the tall-bearded sorts, will be the Columbines, oriental poppies, pansies and lemon lilies. Early variegated, if they do well for you will also bloom then. With the earlier bloomers we can plant the clove pinks and the Phlox divaricata and subulata. This matter of companion planting in the garden has been compared to the saying that no man can live alone; no more can a flower. Just as people love and require the companionship of their fellows so do the flowers.

REPLANTING RULES

If you are doing a thorough job of dividing, separate the roots into single divisions, which will give you almost no flowers this season, but if they are only moderately divided three roots will be left in clumps, which will flower rather freely. The new clumps should be set about a foot apart which will in a single season close up into solid clumps.

SELECT CORRECT IRIS

We must, of course choose the right iris for the correct location. The decisions of iris are for dry, rock gardens, and damp situations. Since most of our gardens will cover two of these classifications, "dry and rock garden," we will plant the tall-bearded kinds that like to have their roots baked by the summer sun, and in the rock garden we may have drifts of the American aristocrat, our own tall crested iris, cristata in blue and white. The roof iris tectorum will grow either in full sun or half-shade, a very accommodating and useful item when we wish to plant picture gardens. Vision a lovely early flowering fruit tree, under planted with a "brake" of pale blue iris.

The very best way to get a naturalistic grouping of bulbs is to scatter them by a sowing motion and with trowel, plant them where they fall. Thus some groups will be close together and others will be thinner.

BEAN GROWERS LOSE

The recent wet weather caused much damage to lima beans. Charles Lucas states that while he was in Otay last week one grower told him he lost 2700 sacks.

This Week IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Sept. 18 (Auto-caster)—"I wonder what they all would be doing if we really were in de war." That remark, dropped by a veteran colored messenger in one of the Government departments, expresses tersely the condition of feverish activity which pervades every branch of Government. If we were actually at war the Federal offices could hardly be more busy.

To every observer here who remembers Washington's activities in 1917 and '18, when we were at war, conditions in the nation's capital seem strangely familiar.

So far as public reactions have been analyzed by Washington observers, however, there is no more widespread indignation or warlike desire on the part of the American people now than there was in 1916 when Mr. Wilson was re-elected President on the slogan "He kept us out of war."

CALLS SPECIAL SESSION

The President has called a special session of Congress. He seeks amendment of the Neutrality Act so as to give him wider authority to permit the sale of war supplies to nations which are able to pay cash and carry them away in their own ships.

The impression observers here get from Senators and Representatives who have been consulted, is that there is a better chance of getting the whole Neutrality Act repealed than to amend it.

Under an unprepared war statute of 1917, however, the President has authority to declare a state of national emergency, and he has acted on this to the extent of declaring that a "limited" emergency exists now. With that authority back of him, the President has ordered the increase of the armed forces of the nation—the army, the navy, the marine corps and the national guard—by the addition of 100,000 men.

In addition, the Federal machinery for curbing foreign propaganda and preventing sabotage has been strengthened.

PASSPORTS RESTRICTED

Under the emergency powers all passports of American citizens for foreign travel are being called in. No more will be issued for travel to any European country without proof of urgent necessity.

Every ship under the American flag sailing from now on must carry the ship's name and home port painted on the side in ten-foot letters, and besides a huge painted reproduction of the American flag on each side of the bow.

There are more than a hundred telephone switchboards in Government offices, with more than 25,000 inside telephone connections and about 3,000 trunk lines. Every switchboard is now on 24-hour service, with 25,000 or more calls a day between the offices here and with other parts of the country.

Telephone service to Europe has been curtailed, but is now being routed through Italy. Washington believes in Mussolini's neutrality, which is partly demonstrated by the resumption of service of Italian passenger ships to America.

Lights burn all night in most of the Federal offices. The State Department is busiest of all, trying to arrange for bringing stranded Americans back from Europe, and keeping tabs on war developments. Officers of the general staff bark orders from the War Department to every part of the country as they did in 1917-18. The Navy Department is even busier.

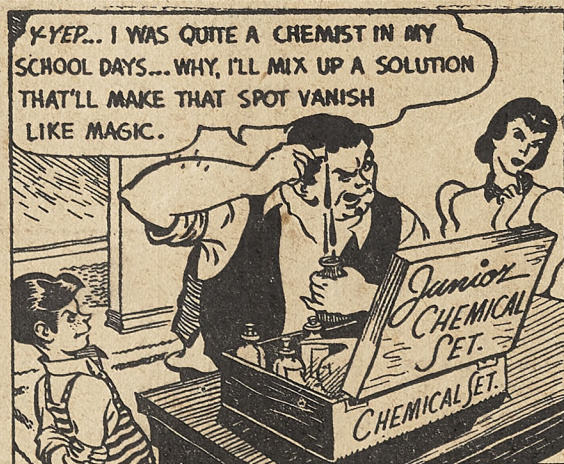

PROFITEERING FOUGHT

There is as yet no Food Administration such as Herbert Hoover managed in the World War, but the Department of Agriculture is trying its best to prevent profiteering in food supplies and to organize the sale of American farm products abroad.

In the Treasury an augmented staff of assistant secretaries is working with Mr. Morgenthau to try to keep the international and internal financial situation under control. Commerce Department is rushed with plans for diverting to this country the trade of South America which formerly went to Germany.

In the White House the Cabinet meetings have been enlarged by the admission to them of

Attends Meeting of Newspaper Leaders

Editors and managers of San Diego County newspapers, executives of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, and others attended a dinner meeting at Coronado last Friday night. Joseph A. Vurgason of National City, chairman of the San Diego County unit of the C. N. P. A. presided. Noel Sands represented the Lakeside Farmer, and Messrs Reed, senior and junior the La Mesa Scout and El Cajon Valley News.

John B. Long, general manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, made a timely talk on the Ham and Egg plan which is to come to a vote in November.

William S. Kellogg of Glendale, president of the executive committee of the C. N. P. A.,

FARM BUREAU CITRUS GROUP IN ELECTION

A. M. Chamness of San Marcos was elected chairman, James Pearce of Lemon Grove, vice-chairman and V. V. Bailard of Rancho Santa Fe, secretary of the citrus department of the San Diego County Farm Bureau at the meeting at the U. S. Grant Hotel on September 18th. The group will meet regularly on the fourth Tuesday at 12:15 at the U. S. Grant Hotel. All citrus growers are invited to attend these meetings and take part in the committee work on the various industry problems.

and Neal Van Sooy of Azusa, vice president, spoke. Mr. Van Sooy is chairman of the State Convention Committee and he outlined plans for that gathering which is to be held at Coronado in January. The San Diego County unit will be hosts.

Unit went to Sacramento, Calif., to attend the National Encampment September 1931. He was also captain of the Modern Woodmen of America Drill Team at Long Beach two years ago.

MARRIED VIOLA DAVIS IN THE YEAR 1935

Frank H. Phillips married Viola Marie Davis of Cypress, at Buena Park, California, October 1, 1935. To that union one child was born, a daughter, Colleen Marie. Wife and child survive him, together with his parents and three sisters, Mrs. Roy A. Gale of Los Angeles, Mrs. Walter H. Kotter of Vallejo, California, and Miss Jane Phillips of Lakeside.

It was last fall that Frank's health began to fail, so in January 1939 he and his family came to the home of his parents here. He was able for the summer months to go to Mission Beach where he and Mr. Oscar Aas conducted a malted milk shop. But he grew no better at the beach and had to be taken to a San Diego hospital where he spent five weeks. Then he came back to the home of his mother and father here three weeks ago and there he sank to his final rest last Sunday morning at 9:35 o'clock, mourned by all who knew him.

sections of the city were plunged into darkness as the storm damaged wires and transformers. Circus goers were drenched by rain which came through the roof of the big canvas tent.

What are described as two "miniature cyclones" struck in two sections of San Diego. One of these "twisters" blew down a garage. Lumber and other debris was blown along the street for half a block, police reported. The other knocked over refuse barrels, garbages and damaged a fence.

During the heat wave thermometers in Lakeside registered above 100 degrees. The real hot weather began on Sunday but the first of the series of electrical storms came on Tuesday afternoon. The weather had been very warm all morning. At 1 p. m., however, a change came. Big rain drops fell, heavy thunder sounding like cannonading followed. Forked lightning flashed above the mountains. Showers fell throughout the afternoon.

The sun, which had been in hiding behind dark clouds for several hours, reappeared shortly before time to set and it painted the hills in gorgeous colors.

Then came night—the night that was to prove most spectacular with its electrical storms and gusts of wind. It started off well. The air was soft and balmy. A new moon, flecked with clouds, paraded the western sky. Summer lightning, harmless enough at first, staged a brilliant display.

By 10 P. M., however, this peaceful state of affairs ended. After the moon had retired a real storm broke out. Deep thunder roared and great flashes of lightning lit up the whole valley. The electric light failed for a few minutes but service was quickly restored.

Peace returned to the sky by one o'clock of Wednesday morn. Looking out of the window at that time the valley lay in darkness; only an occasional flash over the summits of the shadowy mountains indicated that there had been a sensational electric storm.

Any hopes that there might be a lessening of the heat wave were doomed to be disappointed. It was real hot by 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and kept growing hotter as mid-day approached.

Radio reports of conditions in Los Angeles stated that thousands of citizens had passed the previous night sleeping in the open. Many rose at dawn to turn sprayers on the roof of their homes, "so as to make them habitable," the announcer said. He reported 104 degrees in Los Angeles by 10 A. M.

"The worst September heat we have had for 30 years," he continued. Later 116 degrees was recorded in Pershing Square.

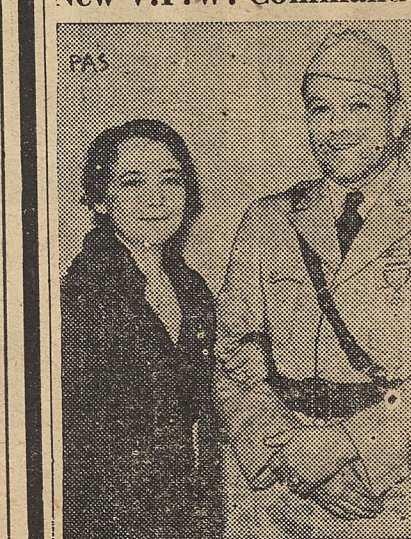

At 11 o'clock Wednesday a short rain storm, accompanied by a wind from the south, brought temporary relief in Lakeside. Rain-drops sparkled like diamonds on the zinnias and butterflies drank from the flower-cups. The sky remained overcast but by noon it was as hot as ever. Then, about 1 p. m., came another brisk rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning. This rain cooled the air and led to the hope that the heat wave was breaking.

A report from Los Angeles said there had been twenty-four deaths in Southern California and twelve in Northern California attributable to the heat; also that there had been numerous prostrations.

YOUNG PEOPLE REPORT

Jean Conant and Ed Sly, who attended the College Age Conference at Big Bear Lake late in August, made interesting reports at the meeting of Lakeside Community Church Sunday. As Pastor T. I. Nalbach said, the church is rightfully proud of these representatives.

HEAT ENDS CLASSES AT STATE COLLEGE

Lakeside students at State College, San Diego, returned to their homes at noon yesterday. Classes were suspended until Monday because of the hot weather. State College temperatures have been very high during the heat wave. At noon yesterday it was 100 degrees.

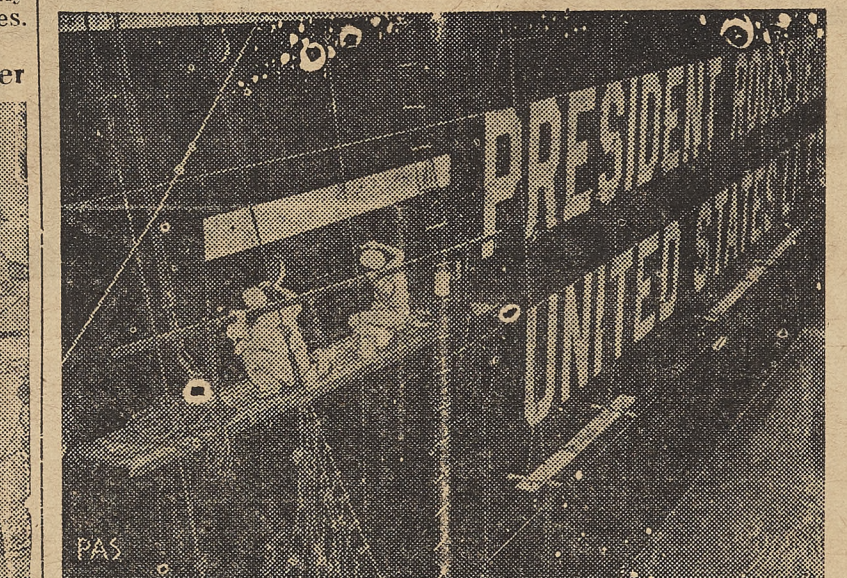

Classes at Grossmont Union High School were also dismissed until Monday.

John Wesley Barker Is Taken by Death

PASTOR IN TRIBUTE TO J. W. BARKER

In his eulogy at the memorial services for Mr. Barker, the Rev. T. I. Nalbach spoke in part as follows:

We are met here today to pay solemn tribute to a man whom without exception everybody loved. It is well for us to do so, for it becomes a group of people to honor their loved ones, for by such tokens we all sanction to the kind of life that we would like to live. We admit that the kind of life which he lived is the kind that deep down in our own hearts gains our utmost respect.

While some men destroyed life and selfishly sought their own ends, he created that many might be fed.

While some sought their own advancement and honor, he sought the welfare and honor of a host of others.

While some found difficulty in carrying their own crosses, he carried the burdens of others and cheerfully, not begrudgingly, and thus his own life was exalted and his own burden lightened.

He learned faithfulness in the larger things because he was faithful in the little things.

To such men and their companions who make such living possible, we all owe a great debt which none can measure. All America should stand with head erect when a Pioneer passes—those hearty souls who turned a rough wilderness into a garden, who knew life in the raw yet knew all the softness of home; family, children, love and peaceful ways; working with God's own soil and from that working learning a trust and obedience which those in urban life will never come fully to appreciate. In days when the struggle was most difficult the Lord himself supported them; in days when darkness reigned at noonday the Lord himself was their Light.

And now that John Wesley Barker is gone from our sight we will not say that he is gone but that he is just away. In the words of James Whitcomb Riley, we will think of him still as the same, I say: He is not dead—he is just away!

Minimize Awkwardness

There'll be no hint of "an awkward age" about the looks of a school-girl who wears this well-designed little dress (8474). The flared skirt, the puffed sleeves and the high neckline, finished with a little tailored collar, minimize any tendency to thinness that fast-growing young ladies have to contend with. And that pointed basque waistline has a slim, grown-up look that they will love.

Practical for summer day-times and also to start school on the first Fall days, this dress will be pretty in plaid gingham, plain-colored linen or gay percale prints, with the little collar in crisp, fresh white, set off by a small bow!

Pattern 8524 - The very newest fashion is here worked out in a design that makes it exciting but not too extreme, in your favorite two-piece style. The bustle effect, latest craze of Paris, is achieved by means of an impudent bow, drawing in the fitted blouse to even more flattering slowness.

The skirt has the very smart back fullness, adding to the Victorian charm that is a definite characteristic of this 1890 revival. A frilled, round collar or a collarless neckline either way is flattering.

Such materials as faille, moire thin wool and flat crepe are in keeping with the bustle effect, because they were smart when bustles first came in.

That is a brief and sketchy picture of Washington getting ready for war. Nobody wants it, nobody really expects it, but if war comes the United States will be ready for it.

Tributes are Paid to Kathryn Englehorn

Lakeside friends of the late Kathryn Englehorn will be interested in the following from the Ocean Beach News:

Scores of Troupers and many friends who had known and loved Kathryn Englehorn, who died Friday, Sept. 8, paid tribute to her memory at the funeral services Tuesday, Sept. 12.

The Rev. John B. Osborn referred to Mrs. Englehorn as "A Trouper beloved, who has gone to that great stage of pure artistry in the Heavenly City. I want you to share with me today the appreciation of the tenderness of Kathryn, her beauty, fragrance, kindly heart."

Anne Prudden, chaplain of San Diego Troupers, gave the prayers that were written by the late Tommy Getz, who was one of the founders of the chapter. In these prayers the "Great Director" is referred to many times. Other stage terms couched in beautiful words, included "Opening and closing the show in that Great Auditorium." And the prayer asks the Great Director to "Teach us to be kind and more forgiving."

J. M. Dodge, San Diego's oldest Troupers, contributed the following tribute to Mrs. Englehorn:

"This talented Troupers was gifted with more than ordinary ability for entertaining. God gave her this wonderful power and how liberal she was with her God-given talents. She was ever ready to respond to the call for charity to which many organizations of the city can testify."

"I recall, I believe, her last appearance before the public. The scene was Edgemoor farm where many of our poor people are making their home. This sweet woman contributed largely to the success of the entertainment; she gladdened the hearts of those poor unfortunate who sought shelter at Edgemoor."

"Kathryn will be mourned by all those who knew and loved her. The Troupers have lost a most valuable member and the community at large will miss her. Farewell, dear Kathryn, you are now at rest and the work that you did while on earth will ever be remembered."

The whole of government consists in the art of being honest.—Thomas Jefferson.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

These words from Isaiah, "Since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him," are the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Reality" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these passages from John: "So Jesus came again into Cana of Galilee. . . And there was a certain nobleman, whose son was sick at Capernaum. . . The nobleman saith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die. Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and he went his way. And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth. Then enquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth; and himself believed, and his whole house." Among the selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, are the statements: "Mentally insist that harmony is the fact, and that sickness is a temporal dream. Realize the presence of health and the fact of harmonious being, until the body corresponds with the normal conditions of health and harmony."

GOOD SEASON AHEAD FOR DOVE HUNTERS

Best dove hunting in many years is predicted for Imperial Valley when the season opens October 1, according to the outgoing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The recent storms will not affect hunting as the birds were sufficiently matured to stand the heavy rains. The season in Imperial Valley will continue through November 15 this year.

Electric Cooking to Be Demonstrated

As a student at Iowa State College Home Economics Department, the work of Miss Robertson attracted the interest of the Edison General Electric Appliance Company, Inc., of Chicago. In connection with this company her demonstrations and work in the company laboratories attracted wide popular interest. Since that time she has conducted cooking schools in many cities including Los Angeles, Chicago, Seattle, Miami, Boston, and Atlanta and is scheduled to appear at the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition.

"As far as we can see now electric cooking is the ultimate cooking method," says Miss Robertson. "Since the first dawn of domestic electric ranges twenty five years ago there has been a constant improvement in it. At the present time a new Hi-speed cooking unit brings 8 percent more speed to the already record breaking speed of electric cooking as well as remarkable savings in cooking costs. With the improved 'thrift' cookers savings range from 20 to 60 percent on many cooking operations. More accurate heat controls and the use of 'measured' heat guarantee the modern housewife perfection that she may depend on time after time."

"One of the outstanding features" adds Miss Robertson, "is the fact that the new ranges are about as easy to clean as a china plate. This is due to the use of glass-like porcelain enamel finishes, Chromium trim stainless steel pans, and the improved Calrod units which permit spilled food to be quickly burned free by the coil heat." The "1940 Range Exposition" will feature the latest techniques and recipes used with electric cooking and is open to the public.

RECOVERING LOST LICENSE PLATES

If you find a lost automobile license plate you'll be doing some motorist a favor by forwarding it to the State Division of Motor Vehicles. It may be returned also to any office of the Automobile Club of Southern California from which the plate will be sent to the proper state office. The motor vehicle department as a service to the public notifies the owner upon receipt of a lost plate, which is returned upon application by the owner at the department's office.

DOGS INCLUDED IN N. Y. SAFETY DRIVE

New York state has broadened its drive for highway safety to include dogs, advises the Automobile Club of Southern California. The state now has a law penalizing the hit-and-run driver who strikes a dog and fails to report the accident.

Mainly About People

By Lorena Sands

Lakeside, Sept., 21, 1939

Dear Eleanor:

Whew! Did you ever --- well let's don't talk about the weather. Anyway we do have things happen around here. Seems that our neighbor Mrs. Addie M. Perkins has been up your way. She and Bob Cole who drove her up were in Los Angeles from Friday to Monday of last week. Bob visited with his brother, whom he had not seen for years, while Mrs. Perkins had a grand time with some friend.

SCHOOLS

Football practice is on at Lakeside Union Elementary School. Robert Naslund, writing in Static, says quite a few boys turned out for the lightweight team but not so many for the heavyweight. Boys seem to be smaller this year, he says, and wonders "if our strength has all gone to brains."

Tommy Brandt announces the line-up for the heavyweight team is as follows: Phil Chandler and Albert Smith, ends; Allen Avra and Edwin Howell, tackles; Bert Comacho and Jerry Fair, guards; Billy Foster, center; George Pepper and Robert Naslund, halfbacks; Ernest, alias "Duke" Fortner, fullback; Frank, "Hack" La Chappa, quarterback.

SCHOOL NEWS FLASHES

Static publishes the following news flashes by Mary Smith, 7B:

The boys continue to far outnumber the girls. Mrs. Conant had forty-five boys in her room during girl's chorus last Friday.

Juanita Ziebarth has enrolled in Southwest Junior High School and Frank Solis has entered Memorial Junior High School.

Mr. Belch and Mr. Ames have hauled several truck loads of leaf mould the past week, for the flower and vegetable gardens.

Miss Josephine Jacobs is the new typist for the Static. She will also help with the art work. Clarabell Huffman reports that the 7th grade is studying America's background.

Betty Wetzel says the orchestra has several new members. Charline Brown and Malcolm Rice will play guitars and Howard McVey a trumpet.

Mary Lou Cota is welcomed back by Leona Dansereau of 8B. Mary has been at the school seven years and moved back into the district from El Cajon so she may graduate here.

GIRLS SPORTS

Mary Ruiz and Frances Silvis report as follows:

The third and fourth grade girls are now doing Folk Dancing and rhythm work. We hope that they are enjoying their dancing.

The fifth and sixth grades are playing bounce ball, the fifth against the sixth. We're sure they will have some exciting games.

The seventh and eighth grades were playing bounce ball, but now they are playing dodge ball.

THIRD GRADE OFFICERS

The third grade reports an enrollment of 28 of whom 13 are girls. They elected officers and committees as follows:

President, Betty McClain; Vice President, Marion Roffat; Attendance, Josephine; Hostess, Patsy Desmond; Host, Ed-die Morton; Messenger, Leo Barnett; Librarian, Henry; Flowers, Marjorie and Dora; Banker, Claire; Static, Billy Buckel; Safety, Edwin; Health, Julia; Hobbies, Billy Reeder; Towels, Betty Jean; Soap, Dickie; Inspector, Gerald; Washroom Inspectors, Dorothy, Lula, Billy and Ronald; Paper, Eugene, Ernest, and Homer.

TWO DEER BAGGED BY LOCAL HUNTERS

Oh deer—the season is open. Ted Pepper and John Goss El Centro were among those fortunate hunters who bagged one each. Roger Lee of Chula Vista was in the party when they went scouting for the horned buck at Boulder Creek. Tom Butler and Ora Williams and son were a three-some of luckless huntsmen this week. While they were trying to track down their prey thru dense underbrush, Tom Butler lost his hunting tag.

Dane Carender and Felix Landis were a couple of other hopefuls, but they'll have to try again. So far Gavin Gibson and Ed and Les Walker have not sent home reports of their hunting trip.

R. D. Beal and a friend have tried their luck, but came home without a deer.

SHOWER GIVEN FOR MRS. WALKER

Truly surprised at a stork shower on Saturday, Mrs. Alma Walker honoree, was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The ten guests were entertained at luncheon and bridge by Mrs. Tony Held and Mrs. Morton Carlile in the latter's home.

Favors of miniature high chairs and baby carriages marked the places at the luncheon table. Decorations were carried out in pink and blue with large white storks at either end of the beautifully appointed table surveying the arrangements of delicate flowers.

Guests for the occasion were Mesdames Wesley Walker, William Sinclair, Rene Fair, Gavin Gibson, Harold Laws, Clark Woodland, Miss Esther Rhodes and the two hostesses, Mrs. Held and Mrs. Carlile.
